PPP in Social Infrastructure: Schools and Hospitals Training Course

Introduction

Governments across the Gulf are using PPPs to deliver new schools, hospitals, housing and other social infrastructure faster and with private sector expertise. These projects have specific challenges: output specifications for services, availability payments and the interface with public service providers.

This course explains how social infrastructure PPPs are structured, procured and managed, with case studies from the region and internationally.

Learning Objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Understand PPP models for social infrastructure
- Define output specifications for schools and hospitals
- Structure availability payment mechanisms
- Manage interfaces between private operators and public services
- Assess affordability and value for money
- Manage social infrastructure contracts over time

Training Methodology

This course combines short expert presentations with practical exercises, case studies from the Gulf and international organisations, group discussions and work with real templates and tools. Participants are encouraged to bring examples from their own work so that the learning can be applied immediately.

Participants analyse regional school and hospital PPP programmes and draft output specifications.
