Advanced Supervisory Management Skills Training Course

Introduction

Introduction

Supervisors are usually in contact with multiple elements of a business – the workforce, customer base, and upper management. Therefore, they need to be able to manage supervisory, social, and accountability skills. Supervisors and managers are responsible for making sure that tasks are performed correctly and at the right time, bearing in mind the overall goals of their respective company. However, over time, the techniques used to manage people and their levels of effectiveness have changed. Therefore, it is essential that companies continue to provide their supervisors with more up to date training in this aspect.

What are the core skills that will be targeted in this “Advanced Supervisory Management Skills Training Course”? Primarily, the topics that will be covered will include leadership skills, supervisory skills, performance management, communication skills, delegation, time management, and empowerment.
