Cash Management Training Course

Introduction

Cash management training is essential in today's competitive environment where improving free cash flow is critical. With limited access to equity or debt capital, generating internal funds becomes crucial. Efficient cash flow management is vital for distributing profits to business owners and shareholders, ensuring financial health. Proper control over working capital is indispensable for a robust cash management system, as highlighted by a PWC report stating that €1.36 trillion could be freed from global company balance sheets by improving working capital management.
