Employee Wellbeing and Mental Health at Work Training Course

Introduction

Stress, burnout and poor wellbeing reduce productivity and engagement and increase absence and turnover. Organisations increasingly see employee wellbeing as a strategic priority and expect managers to support their teams.

This course helps HR professionals and managers understand the drivers of wellbeing, recognise early signs of stress and burnout, have supportive conversations, and design workplace wellbeing programmes that make a real difference.

Learning Objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Understand the business case for employee wellbeing
- Recognise signs of stress, burnout and mental health concerns
- Hold supportive conversations and refer appropriately
- Design work practices that reduce stress
- Build a workplace wellbeing strategy and programme
- Measure the impact of wellbeing initiatives

Training Methodology

This course combines short expert presentations with practical exercises, case studies from the Gulf and international organisations, group discussions and work with real templates and tools. Participants are encouraged to bring examples from their own work so that the learning can be applied immediately.

Participants discuss case scenarios, practise supportive conversations and design a wellbeing plan.
